WEEK END CLOSE DRYNESS IN OF STOCKS WEAK!

Restrictive Effect on Speculation.

NOTE—All Market news on this page reflects closing sale prices (unless buy or bid be specified) on Saturday, February 15.

New York, N. Y., Feb. 15.—The stock market closed weak today. Conflicting news regarding the status of affairs in Mexico had a restrictive effect on speculation and although the market opened higher in sympathy with London, its strength was not long maintained. The crisis in negotiations between the railroads and the firemen was another restraining influence. Although sales of refined copper for future delivery at as lew a price as it cents were reported, copper stocks showed a degree of firmness, owing primarily to short covering.

The general market was heavy at times and became quite weak toward the end. Among the rail stocks Northern Pacific, Lehigh Valley, Canadian Pacific, Pennsylvania and Northwestern were especially weak.

Bonds were irregular.

The Demon of Discontent Many Women and Men Fail to Get Along: Are We More Sensi-tive These Days.

By Wintfred Black

EAR MISS BLACK: All my life I have regarded home life as the most wonderful and best thing that could come to a weman. I have now been married five years to a man I loved, or I should | quiet not have married him, but there is no home life. I am working for my daily bread and he is working, too, for a very small salary.

With my nature it seems almost imok forward to. I have nothing. I am a bookkeeper and find it hard nowadays to keep my mind on my work. I long for the good old days when men provided and women made the home.

J. W. H.

Well, well, J. W. H., what a dreadful time you are having—all by yourself, and yet I know many people who are much worse off than you.

Thousands of women stagger along with all of these troubles at once, and live through them, and make others happy at that.

It never pays to worry about trou-you belong to?

How do you know you'd love home life? Have you ever tried it?

Home making isn't fun: it's work, and hard work at that, and there isn't a cent of money in it sot a cent. How do you know you'd be so in love with it, after all?

So you long for the "good old days when men provided and women made the home." I've heard a great deal about those days. I wish I'd seen some of them.

those days. I wish I'd seen some of them.

I asked an old, old woman about them the other day and she said: "I reckon there have always been no account men and shiftless women as long as the world has been made," and I rather reckon with the old woman.

Maybe all the cave men were just the right thing in the way of "providers" and perhaps all the cave women had to do was to sit on a limb and wait for husband to drag home a deer or so for supper, but if human nature hasn't changed a whole lot since "dem days," there were a good many of the cave women up at dawn looking for deer themselves, and cooking it, too, for a husband with "a misery" in his back, or a toe ache, or something that made him "inefficient" quite in the modern fashion.

We make too much fuss over things these days, it seems to me. A man doesn't make as much money as he might, and his wife thinks she's "mismated." A woman forgets to send the laundry to the wash and the husband srinds his teeth and goes out looking for an affinity.

What's all the fuss about anyhow? Are we getting so sensitive that we have to have everything perfect or we can't live at all?

Think it all over, J. W. H., think it all over, What's really at the bottom with husband and see what can be done for you both.

Go away somewhere; go now, this very week.
Where? ch, just around the corner if you do any better. Go downtown into the foreign part of things and board with some Italians a while and see how little Mother Italy manages with her husband's scanty wages. Find a place to live with some frugal German family; go out of yourself, set away from husband, do it all in the friendliest fashion, and let time see what time can do. Time and absence, and rest and quiet.

Try it and let us all know. We are in-TRIAL OF ROSS UP ON MONDAY

Nineteen Indictments Have Been Re-turned Against Him in Connection With Alleged Holdup.

With Alleged Holdup.

L. R. Ross is scheduled to go to trial Monday morning on an indictment charging him with robbery by use of firearms, in connction with the alleged holdup of card players at the Hotel McCoy, on the night of January 12, when something like $1500 in cash and $3000 worth of diamonds were taken from him at the police station, according to the police. Nincteen indictments were returned against Ross, all growing out of the alleged holdup. He will be tried first on the indictment returned against him on the testimony of George Gaskins, who testified that a diamond ring was clipped from his finger on that night. V. L. Snyder, manager of the Wastern Detective agency, of which Ross was an employe at the time he was arrested, and C. F. Pitman, also a Western agency detective, also stand indicted for robbery by the use of firearms, though the police do not claim that Snyder was at the scene of the wastern. happy at that.

It never pays to worry about trouble. Either get rid of it or stop fretting; either get out of the condition that salls you so, or stop thinking about it immediately.

You want a home life. How badly do you want it? Maybe you are the one who is that.

How much does your husband get a week anyhow? Lees than anybody else on earth, or do the men in the same office with your husband get the same office with your husband get the same salary he does? How do their families live on it and bear the life?

I know people who are poor with $75 a week to spend; others feel rich when they have $15; which class do you belong to?

I know do you know you'd love home life? Have you ever tried it?

the defendants furnished bail.

R. F. Atkinson, who, it is said, informed the police that the robbery was to take place, and was their star witness in he examining trial before justice of the peace E. B. McClintock, is expected to perform the same services in district court when the case goes to trial.

John T. Hill, who is representing Ross, stated that he would make an application for a continuance, while district attorney W. W. Bridgers said the state would announce ready for

ENGINEMEN REJECT

Think it all over. J. W. H., think it all over. What's really at the bottom of your whole cry for help? Are you ashamed of him? Do you feel that you are cleverer than he is? Do you really love him—a; all? If you did, do you think these "ideal conditions" would be so vital to you?

Maybe you are ill and tired and worn out and need a change. Do you know what I would do? I'd talk it all over
